

windhunter®
group
more than wind

Windhunter started as a small business, building met masts and installing them with just a handful of people. From the very beginning windhunter's met masts provide highest quality wind measurements according to international standards. During the years the company was growing, gaining experience, expertise, and knowledge - today windhunter is known as one of the leading providers of wind measurement campaigns worldwide.

Windhunter consists of more than 80 professionals with a broad variety of skills and know how. They enrich the company with their fresh ideas, their entrepreneurial spirit and their experience, and by this each of them helps developing new business opportunities - and from time to time to spin off a new company under the roof of windhunter group. Although their business models, products or services might be different, each company features the same enthusiasm, precision and reliability which became a trade mark for windhunter. The headquarters is located in Koszalin/Poland. The branch offices are in Cape Town/South Africa and Berlin (Bernau)/Germany.

serwis
made to measure

Windhunter serwis is the largest company in the windhunter group, and it is the heart and the origin of the group. Since 1999 we design, produce, and install high quality met masts worldwide according to international norms as IEC 61400, ISO 9001 etc., equipped with high quality measurement systems and installed and serviced by our experienced installation teams.

Windhunter africa's customers want to start the measurement as soon as possible, but they also demand for highest quality and strictly complying with international standards as IEC 61400-12. This is the strength of Windhunter - even in demanding conditions the wind measurement experts ensure highest quality and reliability of their met masts and measurement data, which is most important when you want to build and run a windfarm successfully.
